1.1 The Contract for the visit of JEDI-CON 2008 (henceforward called event) is legalized upon registration and upon receipt of complete payment of the Con fees by Miracle Images Verlags GmbH (henceforward designated the organizer)

1.2 The organizer has the right to refuse registration without naming a reason. In the event that the registration had already been confirmed the organizer could annul the contract if evidence is presented, which suggest a future breach of the TOB contract by the visitor.

1.3 The visitor can annul the contract in written form at any time up until and including to December 31, 2007 (postage date). In this case the registration fee shall be refunded in full. After the above-mentioned date the contract can be annulled with full refund of fees only if the organizer cancels the event, if the visitor cannot attend for health reasons (requires written attest by the visitor's physician), or upon death of the visitor. If the organizer cancels the event at any time, for any reason the registration fee shall be refunded in full, but the organizer shall not be liable for any other consequences caused by cancellation.

1.4 Offering and/or selling of merchandise or services within the framework of JEDI-CON 2004 is permitted only upon receiving written permission by the organizer. Any permission for the sale of merchandise is given only upon signing a separate contract. There is no general right for receipt of such a contract by the visitor.

d) It is strictly forbidden to solicit any political, religious or radical organizations within the framework of the event.

3.2 Refusal to adhere to any of the points listed in 3.1 above may lead to an immediate exclusion of the offender from the event. In this case the visitor shall under no circumstances be refunded for registration fees.

3.3 The security personnel has the right to search personal bags to ensure that the regulations listed under 3.1 and under 5.3 are adhered to.

4.1 The organizer is liable for any damages only if these damages are a direct result of negligence by the organizer.

4.2 If liability of the organizer has been determined the organizer shall then assume unlimited liability for any damage to a person, to personal wealth or to personal items.

4.3 The organizer shall not assume any additional liability in case of damages done to minors or other persons who physically or legally are unable to make their own decisions. The organizers shall be responsible only for ensuring a generally safe environment during the event.

5.3 The organizer has the right to disallow any audio-visual recording for any part of the program within the event. Non-adherence may lead to immediate exclusion from the current point of program or from the event.

If the organizers had disallowed audio-visual recording due to a contract signed with one of the guest stars (this is especially true in the case of video recordings) the offender shall also be liable for any damages caused by his/her actions (for example a guest star may decide to immediately end his/her appearance due to the incidence).
